This is a compilation of indexed extractions from obscure sources, gathered for the purpose of aiding the family genealogist who has Chautauqua County connections. The first discovery was a group of early newspapers which came to light in the Chautauqua County Historical Society, The next discovery was a series of scrapbooks of clippings about people in the north end of the county, and scrap books in other local repositories became available.

Most of these items do not have additional information of interest to a family genealogist, but sometimes it is important to have an actual copy of the clipping, and it is for that reason that there is a key to the source of most clippings. The staff of the Historical Society is limited and cannot undertake extensive research on behalf of a distant correspondent, but they will, however, attempt to fulfill a single request for information about one particular entry. Please identify the item by name, and note the type of record you wish. A donation of $7.50 is suggested; send to Chautauqua County Historical Society, Box 7, Westfield, NY 14787.

Please note that this is not the same organization that published this volume.

CLEMENT George

RS-2

This verse was commissioned by the Order of Railway Telegraphers and by the Royal Arcanum.

* * * * *

In the solemn gloom of midnight at the close of Labor Day
 End to toil and struggle final, pass George Clement did away;
 Gone eternally the torture, by the stomach cancer caus'd
 Soul and body separated, and the faithful watchers paus'd;
 Months of pain, beyond expression, at the hour supreme did cease.
 Earth and Heaven came together at the moment of release;
 A true Catholic was Clement, and his moveless faith in God,
 Plac'd his feet on Rock of Ages and the path by angels trod;
 Him who was for long our neighbor was American with pride,
 But of Belgium a native, crossing early ocean's tide;
 Ellen Riggs the man did marry in the bloom of manhood's morn;
 Lived some forty years together. To the twain no children born;
 As a husband he was noble, to the friend his heart was near.
 He in years was four and sixty, did himself to all endear;
 Oh! 'Tis true, for long we'll miss him, but he pain no more will know,
 And to think of him in Heaven will forbid the tear to flow.

George Clement is still unidentified; information solicited

 Irving correspondence in CHAUTAUQUA FARMER: "As nothing has been said in print in regard to some marriages on Christmas Eve, I think it will be enough to notice the same. Miss Belle Floyd to Mr Castillo by the Rev Mr Hick of the M E Church; also on the same evening by the same, at the residence of the bride's father (Ira Taylor) Mr Charles Burmaster to Miss Libbie Taylor, both of this village. Since the marriage, a daughter of the Seneca Nation has modestly asked the young man for the trifling little sum of a thousand dollars - invitation issued, I understand, by Messers Torrance & Allen Att'ys, and brought to the notice of the bridegroom by the agency of the Sheriff. Cool, ain't it? and ridiculous too, to insult a decent white man this way. Everybody that is anybody thinks it is a put-up job by a certain man whose abilities to mind his own business are very weak - to scare a lit=tle money out of Charlie, but Charlie don't scare worth a cuss. Boys, if you want to marry and be all right, don't you ever cross the reservation."

 Recipe for the bite of a Mad Dog: Take a plant called SCUL-CAP gathered either before dog days begin or after they are over (that is before the 30th of July or after the 10th of September) and cure it in the shade. Cut it up fine and bottle it up close. Of this powder make a decoction as strong as common tea and give to an adult half a pint night and morning, fasting. To a child of three years old, one gill, to a child of twelve years, two gills. The patient on every third day during the period of taking the decoction must miss taking it, and instead must take two teaspoons full of roll brimstone with molasses, or sufficient to procure free passage. Continue this course for forty days.
 Patient must abstain from butter or anything of a greasy nature in his diet and wholly from spiritous liquors. It is important also that he should not wet his feet

wrote letter from Fredonia directed to W W Warner, Postmaster of Fairview PA, "To the PostMaster of Fairview: Sir: Permit me as a stranger to make some enquiry of you as a friend, and hoping that you will be pleased to give me an answer as my enquiry is very important. First, is there a man in your village or vicinity by the name of James Hill and if so, I wish you to enquire of him if he received a note of hand last fall against George Knapp for boot money between two horses; if so, to enquire how much was the amount of said note to Daniel Broughton. Sir, the story is this: Broughton has left such a note to be collected and Knapp has taken ___ that it is a forged note and you will readily perceive that it is a states prison job for one or the other, for Broughton if it is a forged note, and for Knapp if he has perjured himself. Broughton has abscondedd and they are now in pursuit of him. Sir, if you will get these enquiries and write back immediately to me at Fredonia, you will convey a great favor and much oblige Your humble servant Oliver Taylor" The reply is on the same sheet, addressed to Mr O Taylor in Fredonia: "In answer to your enquiry, there is no man in Fairview Township by the name of James Hill in the vicinity of my acquaintance"

 In this village on Monday morning last, Mr Jeremiah Rood, age 61, died. On Saturday evening last he fell from a horse in a fit and received a severe wound on the back part of his head. On Sunday the operation of trepanning was performed with ability and in a manner very satisfactory by Doct O Crosby, but it afforded no relief. The extravasation of the blood had already become so extensive as to baffle all surgical aid, however well directed. Death had marked him for its victim and he was hurried away, bereft of reason, to that "bourne from whence no traveller returns."
